FOREWORD

Fellow students, many were the happy hours spent with you and others in school. The memories of Glenn High School will live in our hearts many years after graduation day. The pathway has been gay and light. May you who follow after us love the school and keep it always a place of pleasant memories for all who pass through. May it be to worthy souls as a lighthouse is to a lost seaman—ever a guiding light. Never let it be hidden under a bushel, but always gleaming to show men the right path in life to take.

Editor—Martha Jeanne Swaim
Faculty Advisor—Anna Ruth Mottesheard

DEDICATION

For her friendliness and helpfulness to all students, for her understanding in all matters, and for her unselfish service to the school in the commercial department, we, the seniors of the 1954 graduating class, dedicate this issue of GLENNECHOES

SENIORS

CLASS POEM

The years may come and the years may go,
And all too soon we part.
We're ending days together now,
Days so close to our heart.
The golden hours we've spent with you,
Will be precious memories
And now we bid adieu to you
Dear schoolmates, our friends so true.

We hope the years ahead will bring,
The best in life for you.
You've dreamed and planned all these many years,
Great things in life to do.
Our high school days that we've spent with you
Have been a joy to us.
So the time has come to bid you goodbye,
Dear pals of our high school years.

CLASS HISTORY

Our Senior Class had its beginning in September 1950, when as a small group of "blank expressioned," trembling freshmen, we arrived at the new, half-built Robert B. Glenn High School. In spite of the enthusiasm that we had, we realized that we must settle down to four years of hard work.

We, as do freshmen everywhere, had to learn all the new faces, but come to think of i,t everybody was new to each other, for we were charter members of the school's student body. Never, do we think, that any other class has had the privilege of actually seeing their school grow with them.

The first year, we had a fairly hard time with stoves heating our upstairs rooms and our teeth chattering to the tune of Algebra and English. This, plus mud, slush and ice, made a sad picture, but there was a much brighter side to the situation—getting out half days "cause we were cold!!! "

Whir-r-r-r-r, now that will ring a very familiar bell in many minds. Yes, none of us will ever forget our first principal, Mr. Ramsey, and his never-to-be-forgotten "siren-lunch bell." After thet siren sounded, there was a mad dash to the Ag. Building for sandwiches, for the lunch-room wasn't completed until mid-year.

The beginning of our Sophomore year was a trifle brighter, for our building had been completed and too, we felt a tiny bit more important, than we had as freshmen. With this in mind, we began to express ourselves without hesitation and our bewildered countenances took on new expressions.

Our Junior year found us very happy, but yet, just a bit frightened at the thought of banquets, Class rings, and the fact that we were upper-classmen. We began to work diligently as juniors to raise money for the Junior-Senior Banquet. Then too, there were our class rings that we knew never would come—but they did, as usual, and my, did we feel important! On April 24, 1953 a jolly group gathered on the Balinese Roof of the Hotel Robert E. Lee, for the long awaited Junior-Senior. Seemingly, everything comes at once, for it was not long before the rehearsel for the Junior Processional began, for we were to play an important role in graduation.

1953—The day had arrived at last and we were in the Senior Class—dreading English as much as ever. We worked and played, but not in vain, for we always kept our eyes on our goal —May and graduation. This last year there was again need for money, so we heartily sold Christmas Cards. Dances, parties, and the like, along with our books, kept the time well occupied and before we knew it, it was Spring again. Again we went to the Junior-Senior, but our hearts were not so gay as the year before, for we realized that our high school days were almost over.

Before we could realize it, the final curtain of our school days together had opened. First was the Baccalaureate Sermon, and then as we received our diplomas on Graduation Night, we truly realized that it was time to meet the future as individuals, for no longer would we be together.

Many of us were overcome with emotion as we donned our caps and gowns; many were not able to express the joy, the sorrow, the pride, and the humility that was in our hearts. Memories, good and bad, will linger with us as we, the Seniors of 1954, end our school days at Glenn.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

As we prepare to leave behind our many friends and fond memories, we, the class of 1954, do hereby bequeath these, our worldly attributes, and declare this our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I—TO THE FACULTY

Item I. To Mr. Steere, our principal, we leave our deep appreciation for making our last year at Glenn a happy one, for his unselfish interest in each student, and for his never-failing patience and guidance.

Item II. To our Senior Advisors, Mrs. Sutton, Miss Stone, and Mrs. Oerter, we leave our thanks for their guidance and understanding of our ever-present problems.

Items III. To Miss Mottesheard, our Annual Sponsor, we leave heartfelt thanks for a job well done and her ability to meet any crisis that might arise while working on the Annual.

Item IV. To our subject teachers, we leave our gratitude and the assurance that there will never be another class like us.

ARTICLE II—TO THE UNDERCLASSMEN

Item I. To the Juniors, we leave our privilege and the honor of being a model class and of being an example to the underclassmen.

Item II. To the Sophmores, we bequeath all our wisdom teeth that they may attain the wisdom that has or has not been ours.

Item III. To the Freshmen, we leave the heartfelt wish that they may improve and someday be dignified Seniors.

ARTICLE III—INDIVIDUALS

Item 1. I, Max Stafford, willingly leave my leftover midnight oil to Jimmy Galloway and Peggy Craver.

Item 2. We, Janice Williard and Jo Ann Pope, proudly bequeath to Cathy Masten the ability to serve her country by having a man in Uncle Sam's ranks.

Item 3. I, Loretta Hine, leave my looking forward to graduation with matrimony in view to Louretta Rothrock.

Item 4. I, Martha Swaim, leave my "wonderful mathematical ability" and "love" for Mr. Myers' geometry class to Nancy Matthews, Lynda Lou Lancaster, and Sue Hart.

Item 5. We, Barbara Myers, Peggy Beck, and Betty Myers, will our chatter about the boys to Emma Lee Watkins, Linda Robbins, and Jackie Snow, providing they don't talk about the same boys.

Item 6. I, Linley Parnell, bequeath my tractor and all my farming knowledge to Dale Kinnamon so he will have what it takes to be a farmer.

Item 7. I, Gene Clodfelter, leave my ability "to wait until tomorrow" to Charles Talley and Gary Bodenhamer.

Item 8. I, D. R. Pope, leave my "barnyard walk" to Don McKauahn.

Item 9. We, Imogene Reed and Nancy Crews, bequeath our ability to state our mind and enjoy woman's freedom of speech to Mary Alice Martin and Anne Swaim.

Item 10. I, Johnny Whitt, sadly leave my well-known red Crosley to Frank Kapp, just in case he outgrows his T-Model.

Item 11. We, Quwatha Smith and Carolyn Miller, without reluctance will our ability to draw and make posters by the yard to anyone wanting the job so that Miss Baker will have someone to draw for her next year.

Item 12. I, Linda Swaim, bequeath my flirtatious ways to Norris Tuttle and Anne Worley who already have their man and won't need them anyway.

Item 13. I, Johhny Griffin, leave my back-row seat in French class to Terry Swaim, providing he earns the privilege of sitting there by learning as much French as I did. C' est la vie!

Item 14. I, Marion "Hardrock" Rothrock, bequeath my "pesty" ways to Harold Sapp, one of the same category.

Item 15. I, Sylvia Glenn, will my overpowering ability to giggle to Nancy Pierce and Elizabeth Pardue.

Item 16. I, Hillary Motsinger, without reluctance leave my twelfth of the Senior math class to anyone who can stand the pressure.

Item 17. I, Ronald Vogler, solemnly bequeath my seat in the Senior homeroom to my brother, Bobby, with the request that he live up to the honor of sitting there.

Item 18. I, G. R. Hawks, will my "white sidewall shoes" to James Rothrock, Tommy Poindexter, and Luther Martin.

Item 19. We, Doris Idol and Sari Caudle, leave our typewriter eraser to anyone who may need it providing they don't use it as much as we did.

Item 20. I, Donnie Robbins, bequeath my ability to break test tubes and keep the chemistry class upset to Fred Pepper, so he can keep Mr. Webster company again next year.

Item 21. I, Sarah Johnson, will my favorite seat in Miss Mottesheard's class to Barbara York and Barbara Sells.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Item 22. We, Peggy Lawson, Shirley Byrd and Lois Moore, will to Betty Manning and Shelba Matsinger, four inches of our height providing they don't grow over six feet tall.

Item 23. We, Mary Lois Holland and Nancy Shelton, leave our position at Belk-Stevens Company to Pat Potter.

Item 24. We, Martha Heath and Jodell Leonard, bequeath our great imagination to Nell Swaim with the hope that she doesn't let it run away with her.

Item 25. We, Bobby Allen, Harold Gray Reid, and Aubrey Snyder, after much deliberation, leave our many girlfriends to James Motsinger since he needs them so badly.

Item 26. I, Hugh Beeson, bequeath my hip pads to David Matthews since they were his to begin with.

Item 27. We, Carolyn Bauguss and Patsy Southern, will our ambition to get our drivers' license to Patsy Crews—providing she doesn't take but one year to get hers.

Item 28. We, Tommy Berrier, Bill Cope, and Vinson Cox, leave our ability to type 200 words a minute to Nancy Myers and Patsy Gregory—on condition that they don't exceed the speed limit.

Item 29. I, Lawrence Branch, leave all my homework assignments for Charles Chamelin to do, hoping he can get them on time for a change.

Item 30. I, Orville Chappell, bequeath my bass voice to Don Tuttle to either cultivate or plow under.

Item 31. I, Benny Welch, leave my blue cashmere sweater to all the girls who wanted to wear it.

Item 32. We, Carolyn Hastings and Mildred Mabe, bequeath our worn-out line of sales talk to Sara Williard and Pat Smith.

Item 33. I, Margaret Pope, leave the ole' Pope spirit to my sister, Etta Mae, so the Popes won't be forgotten.

Item 34. I, Duanna Smith, leave my friendship to Myrtle Knight just in case she gets lonesome.

Item 35. We, Hilda Hicks and Nina Motsinger, will our ability to "hold a man" to Doris Allen and Janice Smith.

Item 36. I, Bobby Walker, helpfully bequeath my ability to sleep in class to Ronald Welborn.

Item 37. We, Ethel Canady, Carlene Cook, and C. R. Lankford, leave our quiet ways to Betty Shoaf and Sara Jo Shields.

Item 38. I, Jo Ann Clinard, leave my high temper to Howard Auman in the hope that he will use it to the best advantage.

Item 39. I, Douglas Haney, bequeath the driver's seat of the activity bus to anyone who can make the thing run.

Item 40. I, Donald Cline, bequeath my southern drawl to Mary Ellen White, with the hope that she'll slow down a little.

Item 41. We, Barbara George and Betty Jo Dills, leave our collection of absence excuses to Barbara Chappell and Billie Raxter.

Item 42. I, Donald Kimball, gladly leave my "football" black eye to Luke Gann so he will have one—just in case Coach Webster starts getting any ideas during basketball practice.

Item 43. I, Nancy Reavis, bequeath my long curls to De Etta Richardson in the event that her ears might get cold.

Item 44. I, Geneva Woods, leave my eye for the basketball goal to Patsy Carol Jones with the hopes that it brings the team some luck next year.

Item 45. We, Olivia Sanders and Carol Crotts, bequeath our "calm and collected manner" to Frances Head, Jo Ann Swaim, and Virginia Joyce.

Item 46. I, Donald Clodfelter, leave my Senior privilege of sitting in the first section of the bleachers during assembly to Joe Ray Bryant and Tommy Smith with the hope that they are as uncomfortable as I was.

Item 47. I, Nancy Swaim, bequeath my patience to Janet Swaim and Yvonne Rickard so that they might endure the oncoming Seniors.

Item 48. I, Betty Sapp, will my red hair to Margaret Pendry in order that the Senior class might have some fire in it next year.

Item 49. We, Carolyn Dunnagan and Doris Prescott bequeath our love and devotion for school to Geneva Smith and Caroline Manuel.

In testimony whereof, we have here set our hands and affixed our seal, this twenty-first day of January, 1954.

Etta Mae,
I really have had a lot of fun in school with you. I don't see their - I will forget the times we had together when we were in Miss Jordan's room together. I know you will have any thing in the world if you would try. Best of luck!

Your friend,
Barbara

Etta Mae,
I have enjoyed good to school with you all of the long years. Hope to be in English Class "4th" with you next year. See you at Church. Lots of luck
